CONFLAGRATION! Vulcan's Sunday Fire LOSS $20000 UPWARD Six Business Places Go Up in Smoke

The Vulcan Meat Market, Hub Pool
Hall, Dance Hall, Photograph Gallery, Law Office, Real estate office and barber-shop are a mass of ashes.

Nothing definite as to the exact origin of the fire is known, excepting that it started in the photograph gallery of G. W. B. Kilroe. It appears that Mr. Kilroe at about 5 o'clock, just before leaving the gallery, which he also occupies as living quarters, replenished the fire in the cook stove, taking care to see that all drafts were properly closed and the checks opened.

He had been absent only about an hour when smoke was seen issuing from the corridors at the back of the building. Those who were first to break in claim that both back rooms were ablaze, though the partitions dividing the rooms were intact. The only explanation to this would seem to be that the fire burned from the floor of one room down the partition and to the next. From the fact that the stove pipe was down it would naturally be deduced that the stove pipe was down, would naturally be deduced that the stove had exploded shortly after lighting.

By the time help had arrived and a water brigade formed, the fire had made too much headway to think of saving any part of the building and an effort was concerted on the saving of the adjoining building. Spreading from the back two rooms the fire attack way into the front rooms occupies as a law office by G. W. Peterkin and as a real estate office by G. L. Johanson, owner of the building. From the time it took only a short time for the whole of the downstairs to ignite this portion of the building, in which is located Vulcan's only meat market, added to the fury of the blaze as law and other greasy contents were there in abundance to act as a stimulant.

During this time every effort possible was made to check the flames and hold them from the hall. Men inside and on top the building fought with every muscle taxed to the utmost and for a while it seemed that the meta-covering both buildings would be the saving of it. Finally a 50 ft. log chain was thrown over the burning market in the effort to pull the building over but with no avail. Then as a last resort, the fighters entered the bottom of the hall and with long poles, pushed the burning remains of the adjoining building out in the endeavor to keep the fire from undermining, but by the time this had been accomplished the fire had worked its way through the metal covering at the top and center of the wall and from then on up under the roof. Even up to this point, had there been a sufficient water supply, the building could have been saved but with fire between the plaster and metal covering, it was impossible to offer any resistance whatever, and the fighters on top were compelled to withdraw and let the element work its havoc.

By this time all the surrounding buildings had been emptied and the fighters retired to the one-storey building occupied by M. F. Harp and the Munro restaurant. Here the bucket brigade again got busy and a continual play of water was kept up over the side of the wall and roof exposd.
For a time it was thought that this could stand no chance of being saved at all as it is only a frame building and was in direct line with the wind.

Also, the store of Whitcher & Glover was threatened, and in fact did catch fire under one eave, though the wet blankets thrown over the roof did much to save it. In the meantime several small buildings standing in the path of the flames were pulled down and dragged out of the way, thus lessening the risk. With the blaze thus checked, it was no time before all danger of a spread ceased and the fire was completely under control. Had the wind risen, even ever so slightly, during the progress of the conflagration, it is gladly to think what might have resulted. Adequate fire protection would have saved these buildings and we can rest assured that with this night's experience as a lesson, it will be no time before we do have ample protection.

The loss to the Vulcan Meat Market, building and contents was around $20,000, only covered by insurance to the extent of $1,800. Hub hall building, valued at $5000, was insured for $2,000. Mr. Kilroe lost practically everything with no insurance to cover it. A few law books was about the only things saved from Mr. Peterkin's office.

The heroic efforts of the fighters must not go unmentioned and the fact that the buildings were not saved is no fault of theirs. Truly may we say that never have we witnessed more faithful, untiring efforts than was put forth by the mutually united, though unorganized band to save Vulcan from being completely wiped off the map.

The Secret Marriage

By Alfred Wilson Barrett

Ward, Lock & Co., Limited
London, Melbourne & Toronto.

But now the murderer begins to grow uneasy. All this has exceeded his plans his wildest hopes. All is too well. The verdict, to his surprise, has been accidental death. No mention has been made of suicide, no mention has been made of the letter, the accusing letter. "Let the letter have existed, he had placed it himself in the dead girl's hand, and she had been found dead." What has happened to this letter? He searches the papers for a word of it. He wonders if in the confusion, the terror of the moment, he can have mislaid it, taken it away with him, if the verdict can have been a blind and the thing he ever now in the hands of the police, who search for him. But no sign comes. And he fears. Unseen, unheard-of terrors haunt him. He cannot stand the constant strain, he cannot keep away, and he comes to this house, which of all others he should avoid. But Violet knowing nothing of the letter, gives no sign, he can get no hint from her. Yet he is convinced she must know of its existence, even that it is in her possession. And so—

And so he abducts her? ejaculated the Major, carried away by his companion's words.

And so, probably he abducts her, and so he comes back here yesterday to search, himself, for this piece of paper. For he feels that so long as it exists and its whereabouts are unknown, so long will his terrors haunt him. Do you see?

Neil stopped at last—exhausted with the vehemence with which he had described the scenes he had conjured up, and looked at the Major a little triumphantly.

So earnest had been Neil's tones, so vivid the things he had described, that Easton, who had been feeling as if he had himself just ceased to witness the tragedy, woke with a start.

You must be right, he said, I feel you are. But there is one thing I do not understand. The murderer's hand left its imprint on the brass of the burner you have there. How is it that it did not upon the note? Neil smiled slightly. It did, he said. Look at the note, and you will see.

Easton started, and drew the paper quickly from his pocket. On the one side was the writing he knew and remembered so well, on the other, now that his attention had been called to it, he could distinctly recognize the faint imprint of a finger outlined in red in a corner of the paper. And he flushed.

Good heavens! he murmured, and I never noticed that.

Neil smiled again. Why should you, he said. You took it for granted, as most people would, that this was written by Eda herself, and even had you noticed the mark, you would probably have taken it for hers. It is very faint too upon the paper, for it was the burner the finger marked first.

Yet you noticed it, said Easton, admiringly. I have always had a fancy for this kind of thing, said Neil, and it is in my business. I should not be much use if I had not remarked it when you showed me the paper first. It still remains to say whose finger-marks they are, remember that.

They are Rivington's. I feel sure of it, said Easton. I feel that you have reconstructed this crime as it really occurred and that the man who came back to search for something so eagerly in her rooms was the man who committed the murder and that it was this paper he sought.

Neil nodded. Yes, he said, but we must prove it. We will prove it, if we have to wring it out of the man himself, said Easton, but she—Violet—must not stay a day longer where she is. We must get her away.

We must do nothing rashly, returned Neil, slowly. Remember all this is suspicion merely and we must not harm her. We know nothing of the relations between this man and her. He may be her husband, and she may be fond of him. He may even be as innocent as ourselves of this girl's death. It is what we must find out before we deal rashly with the situation. But you are right. She must not stay there, at all events unguarded, for another day. That might be fatal.

I am free, said Easton, quickly. I have nothing to do. I am ready to give my time and anything I have to help her. Tell me what you advise, and I will do it.

Go down to Oakston. Find out if she has recovered consciousness, and get an interview with her at all cost, said Neil.

And you? asked the Major doubtfully.

I have a few hours more work to do in London; I want to find out a little more about this man Rivington's position. Go to Oakston, see Violet—within twenty-four hours at the most.

I will join you there. Will you do that? And he held out his hand to Easton.

I will start at once, said Easton rising to his feet. But how will you find me?

You know my office, said Neil, wire me as soon as you have found somewhere a telegram will reach you. Rely on me not to waste time here, and when we next meet Mr. Rivington together, I think he will have something to explain to us.

CHAPTER XV

Easton, who had sometimes found the time hang heavily upon his hands since he had taken up a life of idleness, now began to bless the fact that he had no duties which stood in the way of his giving his undivided attention to Violet Brooke and her strange situation. He obtained some money from his bank, packed his bag, and was very soon back again at Oakston, in which place he discovered a small inn, where he could stay the night, and whence he wired to Neil to the address the latter had given him.

It was evening by the time he had accomplished all this, and it was already growing dark; but he made up his mind that he would at all events have a look at the house which he and Neil had left so crestfallen. He had not made any plans, as yet, as to how he was to obtain an interview with Violet, but he trusted that chance would help him in some way, and if it should not, he was determined openly to compel Rivington to let him speak to her, cost what it might.

He felt that he must know, and know soon, whether the young girl was indeed the wife of this man, who had therefore a right to keep her there, or whether, as he felt in his heart, she was the victim of some plot which was drawing them, who knew whither.

The little inn where he had left his bag was not very far from Rivington's place, only a mile or so across some fields and Easton soon found himself again outside the lodge gates, where Neil and he had left their taxi-cab on their former visit.

There was a light in the lodge window, but Easton opened the gates quietly and attracted no attention as he passed in. He hoped indeed to have a good look round the house, and to get some idea of the position of Violet's room before being seen by any one, and with this object he kept to the side of the drive, well under the shrubbery, in case he should be met by people going in or out.

But no one passed him, and as he went on he became aware of the house looming up in front of him—dark and deserted-looking, and with no sign of occupation coming from it. Good God! he thought, as he drew nearer, the place is empty and I am too late.

But even as he thought, he caught sight of a faint light moving along one of the windows that looked out from a passage, and after a moment the front door opened and a figure came out.

Easton for a second drew back, but as he saw that the house now was entirely in darkness, he took a step forward again. There was something mysterious about all this silence and darkness, and he felt he must know the meaning of it.

As the figure approached, he realised that it was a man, and a tall one and the next second he recognized Odo Rivington.

The two men were almost upon one another before they had time to draw back, and for an instant they stood looking at one another, both pale and angry, silently taking each other's measure.

Rivington was the first to break the silence.

—You here again! he said, with a furious gesture, what the devil do you want?

Easton frowned at the tone. Since you ask me, he said, I want to see Miss Brooke.

Well, you won't, said Rivington. Besides, I thought I told you that lady was Mrs. Rivington, didn't I?

DRESS OF TURKISH WOMEN

Military Censorship of New Fashions in Constantinople

Constantinople.—The military commandant of Constantinople has just issued a significant order prohibiting Turkish women to appear in the streets in attire which is contrary to the religious law and to national custom.

This winter is marking a great advance over previous years in the extreme street garb worn by the younger generation of Moslems. Doff dressmaking has converted the old-fashioned black outer garment into a most attractive costume, which accentuates rather than hides the natural lines of a good figure.

The order does not represent a hope that the Turkish woman will go back to her shapeless clothes. The military commandant knows woman nature too well for that. It is interpreted as a caution against arousing fanaticism in these critical days, which might be harmful to the more advanced members of the Turkish fairer sex.

Better Yet

If the high cost of living keeps on, the rich themselves will feel the pinch of it.

The speaker was Brand Whitlock, Mayor of Toledo. He continued: I know a Toledo banker who has already begun to retrench. His daughter said to him the other day: Father, dear, I need a new fall riding habit.

Can't afford it, the banker growled. But, father, what am I to do without a riding habit?

Get the walking habit.

Aunt Mary—Good gracious, Harold! What would your mother say if she saw you smoking those cigarettes?

GERMAN PRAISES LLOYD-GEORGE

Believes Insurance Will be Beneficial to England, as it Has Been to Germany

Berlin, Germany.—Doctor Kaufman, president of the Imperial insurance department, has just given his views regarding the betterment of national and social conditions in England, which may be expected from the new insurance laws, which recently came into force. The president was careful to explain that he only spoke from his knowledge of German conditions, but that he expected analogous results in England.

There will be, thinks Doctor Kaufman, an enormous reduction in poor law expenditure, in consequence of the insurance laws. Thrift will be supported and nourished, and in millions of cases created. It is a mistake to suppose that insurance will kill a desire to better one's conditions. In Germany insurance has implanted courage to face the future. It will also be so in England.

Secondly, insurance will result in the freeing of the people from their greatest fear. In consequence, there will be increased national happiness and higher standards of life and living. In Germany for example, the consumption per head of population of rye, wheat and meat, notwithstanding the high prices, has largely increased, the deposits with savings banks have enormously risen, and Doctor Kaufman believes that these indications of national prosperity are mainly attributable to the national insurance laws.

Economic development, of course, plays its part, but this development is furthered by the security which insurance in all its branches gives to the workers. Reasoning by analogy, similar results may be expected in England.

Thirdly, an improvement in the conditions of life of the worker means improvement in the quality of work done by him. This may be regarded as an industrial axiom.

Fourthly, the new English law will affect the lower strata of people, just as it has done in Germany. This strata hitherto were helpless, but sick insurance and old-age pensions remove their most crying needs. Compulsion for these classes was absolutely necessary. In a few years will be witnessed a new life, new hopes and new ideals in these classes.

Finally, there is the improvement in national hygiene to be expected, especially in all that affects tuberculosis and other national diseases. The hygiene initiative of the insurance laws will be felt from the highest to the lowest classes in the state, but especially in the homes of the poor. In Germany the worker's life has been prolonged; it will be so in England. Great sanatoria will rise in all parts of the country climatically suitable, and the English may look forward to the complete stamping out of certain diseases which have hitherto ravaged the nation.

In conclusion, this high German official said the act at first would probably not run smoothly, but with patience it will become an essential and indispensable part of the social life of the English people.

Dipsomanias in Sweden, when put under restraint, are fed almost entirely on bread steeped in wine. In less than a fortnight they loathe the very look and smell of liquor, and when liberated generally become total abstainers. In Russia a similar treatment is followed with good results.

She—Which do you think is the best time for her to be engaged? He—I should say just before she is married.

Cousins to Solomon

The story is told of a well-known traveller who on one journey was much annoyed by a pedantic bore, who forced himself upon him and made a great parade of his learning. The traveller bore it as long as he could, and at length looking at him, gravely said:

My friend, you and I know all that is to be known.

How is that? said the man pleased with what he thought a complimentary association.

Why, said the traveller, you know everything except that you are a fool, and I know that.

OLD PROSPECTOR TELLS HIS STORY

HIS REAL TROUBLES STARTED WHEN RHEUMATISM GOT HIM

Plasters, ointments and sulphur were alike useless, but Dodd's Kidney Pills Made a new man of him.

Princeton, B.C.—(Special).—All over Canada people are telling of the great work Dodd's Kidney Pills are doing, and even in the rocky mountain fastnesses where nature hides her mines men are telling of cures made and suffering relieved by the great 'an-Uran Kidney remedy.' Wm. Murray, sixty-six years old, who has tramped the frontier as lumber jack, rancher, prospector, miner, hunter and trapper, and who has friends all over the west, is one of these. Many a tale of hardship and danger he can tell, but his first real trouble came when Rheumatism claimed him.

"I slipped on the mountain side and strained my kidneys and then my troubles all seemed to set in at once. I had nearly all the symptoms of Lumbago, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Diabetes, Dropsy and Bright's Disease," Mr. Murray states.

"Then I broke out in a terrible rash that spread all over my body and kept me in tortures. I tried all sorts of liniments and ointments and took sulphur enough to start a little habes of my own. But it was all no use. Then I tried Dodd's Kidney Pills, and all I can say is they made a new man of me."

TELEPATHY WITH SISTER

Two Women, Miles Apart Decide to Kill Themselves at the Same Time

Geneva.—A very curious case of what is described as telepathy with a suicide is being discussed here.

Some people ascending the Salève by the funicular were startled to see an elderly woman walk to a ledge overlooking a ravine 400 feet deep. She wrapped a shawl round her head and jumped over the precipice. The victim, so it was afterward discovered, was a widow named Mme. Simon, who had been greatly distressed because a younger sister, with whom she had lived, had for the last five months been a patient in a Geneva hospital.

Here is the curious feature of the tragedy. The news of the suicide did not become generally known in Geneva for several hours, but at about the time of the tragedy the woman in the hospital declared to the nurse that her sister was dead, and she did not wish to survive her. In the nurse's absence she threw herself from the ward window into the street, and was so severely injured that she is not expected to recover.

So far as is known no written communication had passed between the two sisters for a fortnight.

Minard's Liniment Cures Distemper.

Asthma Cannot Last when the greatest of all asthma specifics is used. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma-Remedy assuredly deserves this exalted title. It has countless cures to its credit which other preparations have failed to benefit. It brings help to even the most severe cases and brings the patient to a condition of blessed relief. Surely suffering from asthma is needless when a remedy like this is so easily secured.

PARLIAMENTARY HOWLERS

M.P.'s Who Have Set the House in a Roar

It would be hard to say which of the two Houses of Legislature takes the cake, for committing howlers, and still more difficult to pick out the member who has taken pride of place in this respect during recent years. But perhaps for simple effectiveness Lord Balfour of Burleigh would be hard to beat when he said: The noble Lord shakes his head, and I am glad to hear it!

Another noble lord, during a debate on Indian affairs, exclaimed: Talk of this as a loan to India! It is a debt-bite in the ocean! Nevertheless, it stands to reason that the Lower House is more prolific in quantity, if not in quality, in its stock of howlers than more opportunities.

Captain Craig, the fiery Ulsterman, cooked the following oratorical stew: "The naked sword is drawn for the fight, and never again will the black smoke of the Nationalists' tar-barrels drift on the Home Rule wind to darken the hearts of Englishmen." If anything could kill Home Rule, one would think that would.

A Nationalist member, upon a recent occasion, was pouring ridicule upon the fact that farms from which both tenants and live stock had been evicted were under police protection. What foolishness! he said, when all the beasts on it are the sea-gulls that fly over it!

Sir W. Hart Dyke was criticizing the Standing Order forbidding peers from speaking during general elections. Someone had quoted Lord Halsbury as doing so, and Sir William solemnly said: I must admit that the noble able gentleman has gone to the top of the tree and caught a very large fish.

Profitable Litigation

Among the curiosities of litigation may be cited the following case. On the boundary line of two farms in an Austrian village there grew a large gooseberry-bush, from which the two farmers for years gathered the product. What grows on my side is mine, and you may have the rest, was the agreement.

Some time ago the neighbors had a misunderstanding, and this came to a climax when the gooseberries became ripe. A lawsuit followed, and appeals were made to higher judicial bodies. The final decision was later recorded in the Austrian courts.

Each party is to have the right to pick the berries which grow on his side of the line, just as it was originally, but neither may destroy the bush. The costs are charged half to each litigant. Each farmer had to pay 225 kronen. The yearly yield of the bush is worth about one-half kronen, and the judge told the fighting farmers: With good luck, it will take you only 800 years to make the bush pay. Take good care of it.

Earning a Quarter

The modern alma-collecting is nothing if not up to date in its methods. The other day a shabbily-dressed individual, purporting to be an emissary of the Fisherman's Home, coolly took a box round while an open air meeting was in progress.

For a time he and his box were merely glanced at by the audience, until he presently came upon a wealthy gentleman wearing a gold watch and chain and a diamond ring.

Thinking of take a rise out of him, the wealthy gentleman decided to probe him.

"Do you fish?" he asked of the emissary.

Yes, sir, came the respectful answer. Ah, continued the gentleman, then sling your hook.

The alma-collector, however, stolidly stood his ground.

Well, demanded the gentleman, have I not told you to sling your hook? My dear sir, remonstrated the emissary, I have already slung it about twenty times, and have not had a single bite yet. Won't you oblige me, sir?

The gentleman gave him a quarter.

Mothers Value This Oil.—Mothers who know how suddenly croup may seize their children and how necessary prompt action is in applying relief, always keep at hand a supply of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, because experience has taught them that there is no better preparation to be had for the treatment of this ailment. And they are wise, for its various uses render it a valuable medicine.

How Failure Talks

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., discussing success with that homely wisdom which is his heritage from his father, said to a reporter:

The failure reads a wrong meaning, a meaning in accord with his nature, into the most helpful precepts.

Are you laying anything by for a rainy day? was the question that was put to a man on the high road to failure.

The man looked up from his newspaper, yawned and answered: Yes, indeed—every fine day I put aside a lot of work.

SORE FROM ELBOWS TO FINGERS

ZAM-BUK WORKED A MIRACLE OF HEALING

Reverend Gentleman Fully Corroborates

Miss Kate M. Dolliver, of Caledonia, Queen's Co., N.S., says: "I must add my testimony to the value of Zam-Buk. Ulcers and sores broke out on my arm and although I tried to heal them by using various preparations, nothing seemed to do me any good. The sores spread until from fingers to elbow was one mass of ulceration. I had five different doctors, and faithfully carried out their instructions. I drank pint after pint of blood medicines, tried salve after salve and lotion after lotion; but it was of no avail."

"My father then took me thirty miles to see a well-known doctor. He photographed the arm and hand. This photograph was sent to a New York hospital to the specialist; but they sent word they could do nothing further for me, and I was in despair. "One day a friend asked me if I had tried Zam-Buk. I said I had not, but I got a box right away. That first box did me more good than all the medicine I had tried up to that time, so I continued the treatment. Every box healed the sores more and more until, to make a long story short, Zam-Buk healed all the sores completely. Everybody in this place knows of my case, and that it is Zam-Buk alone which cured me."

Minister corroborates.—The Rev. W. B. M. Parker of Caledonia Miss Dolliver's minister, writes: "This is to certify that the testimonial of Miss Dolliver is correct as far as my knowledge goes. I have known her for a year and a half and her cure effected by Zam-Buk is remarkable."

Wherever there is ulceration, blood-poison, sores, cold-cracks, abscesses, cuts, burns, bruises, or any skin injury or disease, there Zam-Buk should be applied. It is also a sure cure for piles. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. per box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse cheap and harmful imitations and substitutes.

Hard to Explain

Mr. Wedgwood Benn, M.P., tells this amusing incident of his life in Parliament. Once when his Party were particularly anxious to have a large attendance of Members at the House, after sitting all night, it was decided to send telegrams to those who were not in attendance, stating: "Awaiting you at the House."

Unfortunately, the telegrams were accidentally sent to several members who were present, with the result that upon their returning home and explaining to their wives what a terribly busy night they had had at the House, trouble ensued.

HER HEARING RESTORED

Astonishing Deliverance of Woman Thought to be Hopelessly Deaf
NEW YORK (Special Despatch).—Fully convinced that her hearing has been permanently restored after years of torture with head noises and almost total deafness, Mrs. B. C. Barry of 555 W. 170th St., N.Y. City, has now been persuaded to tell the story of her wonderful deliverance.

After having spent hundreds of dollars on mechanical devices, medicines and doctors' fees, she decided that this latest discovery, however simple and inexpensive, should be the last she would try before resigning herself to the hopelessness of permanent and total deafness. Those interested in Mrs. Barry's case and the hope it holds out for them, may write to her in confidence for full details, which she offers to send gratuitously.

Theatrical

Yes, said the ex-eminent tragedian, at one time my company started on what promised to be a most profitable tour of the great Sahara Desert. We were producing my thrilling drama: "The Remorseless River," and of course had to carry the water for the river on the backs of camels. Well, sir, it would have amazed you to see the bit that show "made with the Arabs." They'd ride for hundreds of miles to attend a performance.

Made money, eh?

For a while. But one night we were to put the show on away out in the middle of the desert, and one of those wretched camels got thirsty. Just when the tank had been filled ready for the heroine's thrilling leap for life the brute stuck its head through the wings and drank the tank dry. There we were, four hundred miles from water, and—

But his emotion overcame him, and he had to leave the rest to our imagination.

The year just past has been the biggest construction year on record. During the year 2494 wire miles of long-distance lines were constructed, being an increase of 50 per cent, while the rural lines mileage was increased from 4925 miles to 9671 miles, or an increase of 96 per cent. During the year 3336 new rural subscribers were added to the system, whilst 3840 exchange subscribers were added in the cities. There were also 13 new town exchanges constructed in 1912 and new central equipment installed in 20 others, 17 of which were either entirely rebuilt or considerably enlarged. At the close of the year 1912 there were in operation in the province of Alberta 6689 miles of toll lines and 9781 miles of rural lines, connecting 7420 rural subscribers and giving service to 14,602 exchange subscribers.

This is a remarkable showing, as when the government took over the telephone system there were only 1829 wire miles connecting 70 offices and now there are 6069 miles connecting 234 offices. All this extension has been paid for out of the revenue of the department, and there is still a surplus of $407,502, while the people of the province have, in addition, a plant that is now valued at $5,725,288, which is paying for itself every day.

and the premier promises still further extensions. "We will increase and extend the system until every farmer and every resident of Alberta is accommodated with this utility which is as necessary as railroads," he said in discussing this matter after giving out the above figures, and added that an additional $2,000,000 will be spent on this work this year.

Constructive legislation, including railroads and highways, telephones and farmers' co-operative elevators, and municipalities and mines, will be introduced by the Sifton government at the present session of the provincial legislature which opened February 11. Notice has also been given of fifty private bills for the incorporation of insurance, trust and development, athletic and other companies.

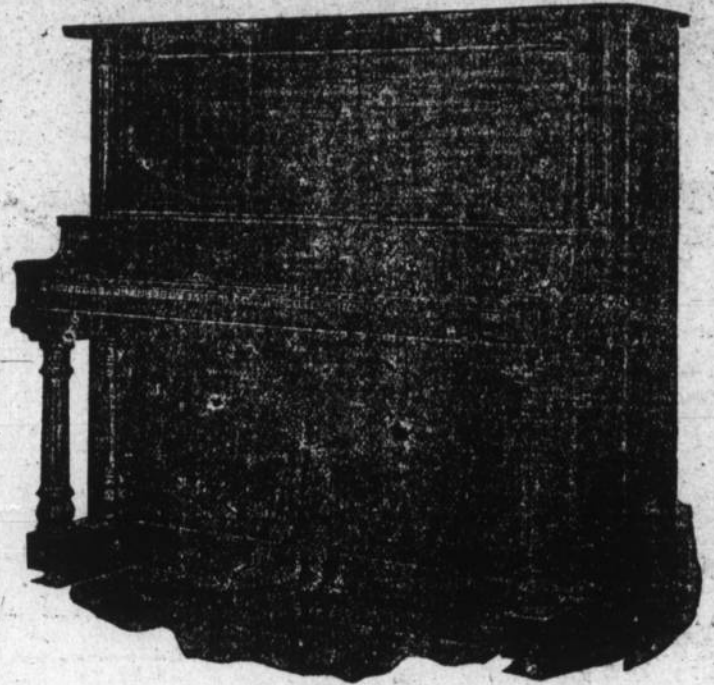

The question of bonusing industrial establishments, against which there is a strong feeling in various parts of the province, will be brought to the fore when the towns of Wainwright asks for an act validating an agreement with a manufacturer to establish a flour and gist mill on condition of receiving assistance.

"If you only knew it," said Carl Westiner to The News-Telegram Monday morning, "there is lots of gas right within the limits of your city. I find the indications and where the indications exist, there is usually gas." Mr. Westiner is a gas expert who has been spending some time at the oil fields near Okotoks. "I believe there is oil under your city, but it would not be my place to go to the owners of the land and tell them. It is a sure thing, however, that the proper sort of clay has been dug out of certain foundations and evidence of gas can be found in the water pools in certain parts."

All Gas
Laura, said that young lady's mother it seems to me that you had the gas turned down rather low while young Sam was here last evening.
It was solely for economy, mamma, answered the maiden.
There is no use trying to beat the gas company, my daughter. I have noticed that the shutting off of the gas is always followed by a corresponding increase of pressure.
Well, that lessens the waist, doesn't it, mamma, dear? replied the artless girl. And her fond parent could find no answer.

BOY FINDS PEARL NECKLACE

Does Not Think Much of it and Soon Forgets Such a Trivial Affair

It is reported that Baroness de Forest, who arrived at Wengen, from London lately for the sports, has just escaped a very expensive holiday. While enjoying winter sports she lost a necklace valued at more than $25,000 in the snow and there was little hope of finding it until the snows melted.

The police, however, were informed and notices issued, but without result, and for a good reason. The valuable jewel had been picked up by a little Swiss boy, who did not think much of it, and placing it in his pocket among sweets and bits of string, soon forgot the affair.

It was two days later, when the boy's mother turned out her hopeful rather dirty pockets that she discovered the jewel and took it to the police who handed it over to its owner.

Baroness de Forest was greatly delighted, as she had lost all hope of recovering the necklace, and the bad little boy who brought luck to his parents, received a large reward—as well as a scolding from his mother.

Miller's Worm Powders act so thoroughly that stomachic and intestinal worms are literally ground up and passed from the child without being noticed and without inconvenience to the sufferer. They are painless and perfect in action, and at all times will be found a healthy medicine, strengthening the infantile stomach and maintaining it in vigorous operation, so that, besides being an effective vermifuge, they are tonical and health-giving in their habits.

Good for the Cafe

The proprietor of the Cafe Edelweiss was faced with ruin. Somehow he had failed to hit the taste of the citizens of the little Bavarian town in which he carried on business, and he was at his wit's end to find a device for attracting the fickle public. Suddenly he hit on a brilliant idea. He inserted two advertisements in the local newspaper. One ran—

Young men with large income desires to make the acquaintance of a young lady with a view to marriage. Money a matter of secondary importance.

The other ran: Young lady with about 50,000 marks (later, more) wishes to marry a young man. A gentleman with good character, even if he is without means, will find an ideal home.

These announcements brought dozens of replies daily and, writing on behalf of the imaginary young man and the rich and also imaginary young lady, the proprietor of the Edelweiss made a rendezvous with all applicants in very natural, his cafe.

The establishment numbered with life for a few days until somebody smelt a rat, and the enterprising proprietor was forced to explain his method of filling it before the local magistrate.

ROTHCHILD BETROTHAL

Member of English Branch of Family to Take a Wife

Paris.—James de Rothschild, nephew of Lord Rothschild, is engaged to Miss Dorothy Pinto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Pinto, of London. The marriage is expected to take place shortly.

The owner of a racing stable in England, James de Rothschild is almost equally well known on the French turf, where his colors are frequently seen. He is a keen follower of the hounds, an experienced art collector and the author of a volume dealing with the period of Queen Elizabeth as represented by Shakespeare.

James de Rothschild's only sister married the Baron von Goldsmidt-Rothschild, at the German embassy in London.

They Took Wine

LITTLE VICTIMS OF ST. VITUS DANCE

It is Most Common Among Children of the School Age.

If your child—whether boy or girl—is fidgety, emotional and awkward, you should watch it carefully as it may develop St. Vitus dance. Frequently children cannot keep still, they move with strange actions, their limbs jerk and their features twitch nervously. Speech is confused and the whole muscular system not under control. These are among the symptoms of St. Vitus dance, a trouble that afflicts growing girls and boys, most frequently during the school age. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are such a splendid nervine tonic that they have cured the worst cases of St. Vitus dance. They do this because the new, rich blood they make feeds and strengthens the starved nerves, thus throwing off the disease. Here is an example. Mrs. L. L. Gifford, Westover, Ont., says: "For over two years my little girl, Constance, was a sufferer from St. Vitus dance. She was frightened badly by a dog, which seemed to bring on the trouble, and notwithstanding all we did for her it seemed to be growing worse. She grew so bad that she could not feed herself and her speech was so badly affected that we could scarcely understand her. The twitching and jerking of her limbs was pitiable. At this juncture we began giving her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and to our great joy they have completely cured her, and she is now as healthy a child as you can find."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Mary, Mary, cried a shocked mother, noticing her little daughter feeding her pet dog at the table, and with her own spoon. What are you thinking of to feed Fido from the spoon you are using yourself.

The child looked up, innocently smiling. Oh, mother, dear, he doesn't mind a bit.

Mistress—Cook tells me, Mary, that you wish to go out with a friend tonight. Is it urgent?

Mary—Oh, no, ma'am, 'tisn't 'er gent—it's my gent.

There was a terrific explosion off to the southwest of the hill, and General Spinchitch turned pale as a ghost. "By Jikom!" he cried, they have dynamited the King's Own Fusiliers!

No General, replied his chief aide-de-camp, looking at the same through his field-glasses. It is only the moving picture people taking a flashlight of the Royal Scullery Guards in a football scrimmage.

The Beach Girl

She seems to be something of a flirt.

I should say she does. What is her speciality? Learning to swim.

There's this old hat of the master's, Mary. Do you think the man would give us anything for it?

Law, yes, m'm, there's many a poor man 'as would be glad to go to his wife's funeral in a hat like that.

Leprosy in England

London.—John Burns has received notice of a question from Mr. Newman, M.P., asking whether any regulations are in existence whereby persons suffering from leprosy in this country can be compulsorily segregated and kept under observation, and whether he is aware that there are in London several cases of leprosy under treatment.

What is your name, little girl? Mary.

And what is your last name? I don't know. You see, mamma hasn't got back from Reno yet.

AS TO FLAVOUR

Found Her Favorite Again

A bright young lady tells how she came to be acutely sensitive as to the taste of coffee:

"My health had been very poor for several years," she says. "I loved coffee and drank it for breakfast, but only learned by accident, as it were, that it was the cause of the constant, dreadful headaches from which I suffered every day, and of the nervousness that drove sleep from my pillow and so deranged my stomach that everything I ate gave me acute pain" (Tea is just as injurious, because it contains caffeine, the same drug found in coffee).

"My condition finally got so serious that I was advised by my doctor to go to a hospital. There they gave me what I supposed was coffee, and I thought it was the best I ever drank, but I have since learned it was Postum. I gained rapidly and came home in four weeks."

"Somehow the coffee we used at home didn't taste right when I got back. I tried various kinds, but none tasted as good as that I drank in the hospital, and all brought back the dreadful headaches and the 'sick-all-over' feeling."

"One day I got a package of Postum, and the first taste of it I took, I said 'that's the good coffee we had in the hospital!' I have drunk it ever since, and eat Grape-Nuts for my breakfast. I have no more headaches, and feel better than I have for years." Name given upon request. Read the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

Postum now comes in concentrated, powder form, called Instant Postum. It is prepared by stirring a level teaspoonful in a cup of hot water, adding sugar to taste, and enough cream to bring the color to golden brown.

Unable to Work for 14 Months

Complete Nervous Breakdown Left Mr. Black an Invalid—Cured by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mr. Henry Black.

What a helpless mass of flesh and bone the human body is, once the nerves become exhausted. Extreme weakness comes over you, and you lose control of the limbs. The next step is paralysis.

You will be fortunate if, like Mr. Black, you get the building-up process in action before it is forever too late. By forming new, rich blood Dr. Chase's Nerve Food carries new vigor and energy to every organ and every member of the human body.

Mr. Henry Black, 81 St. Catherine street east, Montreal, Que., writes: "The wonderful results I obtained from the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food constrain me to write this letter in order that others who suffer from nervous exhaustion and weakness may use this medicine with equally satisfactory results. As the result of overwork I became completely exhausted, and was unable to work for fourteen months. As I am the father of a family, these were sad days for me, but after I had used six boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I had improved so greatly that I continued the treatment until I was completely restored to health and strength. I now work twelve to fifteen hours a day, and keep in excellent health."

U. S. MAY INTERVENE

NOW MAKING PREPARATIONS TO INVADE MEXICO

President Taft Wants Congress to Share the Responsibility for Intervention—Six Dreadnoughts are in Mexican Waters—Ten Other Fighting Ships in Readiness.

Washington.—President Taft and the cabinet are in accord that Congress shall share the responsibility for any intervention in Mexico.

Conferences between the President and his advisors ended with the understanding that should conditions in Mexico City become so much worse as to demand the landing of American troops, Mr. Taft will lay before both Houses of Congress the facts in a special message. Every preliminary was arranged for the action which might follow such a course. Thirty-five thousand men, of the army, navy and marine corps, were put in readiness for movement. The first brigade of the first army division just created, three thousand men in all, and the nucleus of an expeditionary force of 15,000 was put on marching orders ready to entrain for Newport News, Va., where army transports wait under steam.

Between 2,500 and 3,000 marines of the Atlantic battleship fleet and at the Guantanamo naval station, were prepared for immediate movement to Vera Cruz, where they might be kept aboard ship ready for landing to blaze an avenue of escape to Mexico City for foreigners, as was done by the great powers at Peking.

Six Dreadnoughts with approximately 6,000 jacks and officers are now rushing under full steam for Mexican ports—four on the Atlantic and two on the Pacific. Ten other crack fighting ships of the Atlantic battleship fleet, swinging at anchor—seventy hours off Guantanamo are ready for sea. They have approximately 9,000 officers and men.

Within call to supplement this force are the cruiser Denver, enroute to Acapulco, Salvador; transport Buffalo, at Corinto, Nicaragua; cruiser Des Moines, en route to Bluefields, Nicaragua, and due there Saturday; gunboat Nashville, en route to Honduras.

It is the feeling of the administration that these plans are all that can be done at this time, and that a sufficient number of warships have been despatched, not only to observe developments, but to practically create neutral zones at ports where they lie, to which Americans and other foreigners in Mexico may find safety.

It has been suggested in some centers that to land troops in Mexico would be such an act of war as can be justified only by a resolution of Congress. Many military officers fail to see any distinction between such landing of troops on foreign soil in case of anarchy, and the employment of marines for the same purpose, as was done in Nicaragua recently.

To meet the constitutional objection in case the transports were sent to Vera Cruz, it is understood that the commanding officers would be instructed not to land troops except upon Congressional authority.

Their presence on the coast, it is felt, would doubtless have a strong moral effect upon the contending factions in Mexico, and more than a week's time would be saved in placing the soldiers where they would be needed in case danger to foreign lives and property should become more imminent.

TURKEY WOULD HAVE PEACE

Not Likely That Direct Action Will be taken Until After Decisive Battle

London.—It is becoming increasingly evident that Turkey is taking steps to resume the peace negotiations, although it is possible that no direct action will be taken until some decisive results in the fighting in the Gallipoli peninsula has been achieved.

It is understood that Tewfik Pasha, the Turkish ambassador, has had several interviews with the British foreign secretary recently, and that Rehad Pasha, head of the first peace delegation, has been ordered to remain in London. Hakkı Pasha will consult with Sir John Pasha and Count Von Berchthold, the Austrian foreign minister at Vienna, before coming to London.

Another effort on the part of the Porte to raise a small loan in Paris has failed, owing to the refusal of the French government to open the Paris market. Official accounts of the fighting, issued at Sofia and Constantinople, are conflicting, but it seems to be certain that the Turkish arms have again met serious reverses, although Adrianople and Scutari are still holding out.

It is reported that this matter was discussed at a meeting of the ambassadors at the foreign office, but that it was decided that the powers would be unable to undertake the role because the allies had declared that in the future they would negotiate peace only on the battlefield.

C.N. NEW LINES

Programme of Work for Prairie as Previously Announced in Province

Toronto.—The announcement of the Canadian Northern Railway's construction programme for 1913 was made recently.

Hundreds of miles of new lines are to be constructed; and as many men as the C.N.R. are able to secure will be given work on the construction.

In Manitoba a stretch of five hundred miles beginning five miles east of Portage and extending to near Siewburn, will be the main development. The Inwood-Pleasant River route will be graded forty miles.

The construction in east Saskatchewan will include a line from Sturkie for a distance of 44 miles towards Hudson Bay. A like distance of line will be constructed on the Gravelburg branch. The line through Gravelburg toward Swift Current will have more than fifty miles added to the present grade.

The McRorie-Outlook line will be extended nearly 30 miles east of that point and about twenty miles west of it.

The Regina-Moose Jaw line, and the Yorkton branch are also included in the programme.

Alberta is to see many of the Alberta lines constructed this summer. The Camrose southwest branch is the principal one, and the sixty miles of new line on this will be undertaken on the Edmonton-Calgary line. The line south of McLeod, at Pincher Creek, will be graded for about forty miles and work on the Calgary-Lethbridge branch will also be undertaken. The linking up of the Brundheim and Vermilion connection and the tapping of the Brazeau coal fields are to be rushed. The Peace River branch is also to have a start made on it. The Calgary-Saskatoon branch is now practically completed, and service will be established on this line within a few months.

Port Nelson Terminal for Line to Bay

Ottawa.—H. P. Hazen, the government harbor expert, who has been surveying the approach and the harbors at Port Nelson and Fort Churchill, with a view to definite selection of the terminal for the Hudson Bay Railway, which is now being built north and eastward from Le Pas, arrived in Ottawa recently.

The question of the site of the terminal will be settled at once, said Hon. Frank Cochrane. It is very important that we should definitely decide at once upon which port will become the terminal of the railway that is now under construction. It is a very difficult problem, as there is much to be said for and against both Fort Churchill and Port Nelson.

While there can be no official statement until after Mr. Hazen makes his report to the minister, and it has been given due consideration it is generally believed that Port Nelson will be decided upon, although there are serious difficulties from an engineering standpoint.

Port Nelson is closer to the wheat fields; the railway would run through a better country, and the line would have lower grades. Fort Churchill undoubtedly has the best harbor, but the surrounding country is barren land, and the road for some 75 miles would have to run through muskeg, and it is feared that it would be almost impossible to get a good road bed.

Port Nelson also has an ideal location for a townsite, railway terminal and docks, while the character of the country at Churchill is such that it would be difficult to lay out a town and terminals.

IMMIGRATION PROSPECTS

Never Better, Says Mr. J. S. Dennis, of the C.P.R.

Montreal.—Immigration prospects from Great Britain and Northern Europe was never better, said Mr. J. S. Dennis, assistant to the president of the C.P.R., who arrived here from London. The liberal policy of disposing of the remainder of the company's land grant for the purposes of colonization has attracted the attention of the British and Continental papers.

It is not possible to obtain from Great Britain, he said, many agricultural colonists because that class is limited. Less than thirteen per cent. of the population of Great Britain and Ireland are engaged in agriculture, and if colonization is to progress a large portion of immigrants must be obtained from Northern Europe and the United States.

Signed by the Virgin Queen

London.—An old deed of indenture, signed by Queen Elizabeth, is one of the interesting documents to be sold shortly by Messrs. Sotheby. The deed was signed by the Queen on completing a sale of property with the Earl of Leicester. The earl had just been appointed commander-in-chief of the army destined for the Low Countries. The property conveyed was the lordship and lordships of Denbigh and Denbigh Land, and the sum at which it passed was $88,000, of lawful English money to him in hand paid by our said Sovereign Lady. The date on the document is December 2, 1558, and a beautiful example of the Great Seal is attached to it.

Free Canal Tolls

Washington.—Repeal of the free passage provisions of the Panama Canal Bill is the wisest and best way out of a very embarrassing and injurious situation, urged Senator Root before the Senate Committee on Inter-oceanic canals in support of his bill for a repeal of the provisions which exempt American Coastwise shipping from the payment of tolls.

Naming Senators

Ottawa.—It was stated that when the bill increasing the representation of the senate in the west becomes law the two additional seats in the upper house to which Alberta would be entitled will be filled by the appointment of Dr. Brett, of Banff, a former speaker of the Northwest Territorial Assembly, and Richard Secord, a prominent Conservative of Edmonton, who was on one occasion a candidate for parliamentary honors.

A NATIONAL APPEAL

WORLD RINGS WITH PRAISE FOR ANTARCTIC HEROES

Movement Has Begun for a National Memorial and to Provide for Bereaved Families of Dead Explorers—Admiralty Regards Loss as if Heroes Had Been Killed in Action

London.—The committee of the British Antarctic expedition will issue a national appeal for a fund to provide for the relatives of the dead explorers. Among those signing the appeal is Lord Strathcona.

The Admiralty issued an official expression of its profound regret at the loss of the heroic officers, saying:—

The circumstances under which Captain Scott and his comrades lost their lives prove with what constancy and resolution they carried out their duty for which they volunteered. The Lords and Commissioners of the Admiralty consider that their loss should be regarded as if they had been killed in action, and their story will long be remembered with honor by the navy.

Nothing has been decided as to what steps the government or the Admiralty will take, but full confidence is felt that ample provision will be made.

The lord mayor of London has asked the first lord of the admiralty, Mr. Churchill, whether he will open a fund and Mr. Churchill has not replied, but the lord mayor says: If it should be found necessary to open a fund, the Mansion House will rise worthily to an occasion which affects us all.

The Daily Telegraph, which has opened a fund for a national memorial to Captain Scott and his dead comrades, says:—

We owe it to ourselves and to posterity to place on record in some worthy, substantial and enduring form our sense of the glory of these men and of the undying glory they have shed on the British name.

Among the first subscribers to this fund are Lord Admiral Peary and Baron Richaumont.

The London papers published tributes from the European sovereigns and explorers and scientists of all nationalities to the heroic devotion of the explorers, and expressing sympathy for their families. These tributes are especially numerous from America.

The general feeling expressed is that no honor is too great to be rendered to the dead heroes, and that, therefore whatever is done by the government should not interfere with the spontaneous generosity of the public in behalf of the wives and families of those who sacrificed themselves in the nation's honor and service.

CAPTAIN SCOTT'S DAILY RECORD

Story of Trip to be Published—Remainder of Party Are Well

Christchurch.—The Terra Nova brought every written record of the southern party, including the private diaries which will be handed to the relatives of the dead explorers.

Captain Scott kept a daily record until March 24, and spent the last day in writing his message to the public. The bodies could have been brought back, according to Commander Evans, but all agreed to leave them in their white mantle, where they had worked and died.

Commander Evans is not inclined to speak of the tragic side of the expedition and has forbidden his fellow-officers to speak. He will complete Captain Scott's story for publication.

All on board the Terra Nova look to be in good health and bear no outward signs of the hardships they have undergone.

Did Not Leave Vatican

Rome.—The Vatican denies absolutely the report published in America that the Pope left the Vatican to visit the home of his dead sister. The authorities at the Vatican add that such action on the part of the Pope would be an utter contradiction of the Pontiff's character, as he considers it his sacred duty to remain within the Vatican walls.

MAJOR LEWIN

BRIDE AND BRIDEGROOM-ELECT

Particular interest attaches to the engagement of Lady Edwina Roberts (second daughter of Lord Roberts) and Major Lewin, in view of the fact that the title may pass to Lady Edwina and her eldest son if she should have one. Lord Roberts' last surviving son, the Hon. Frederick Roberts, died of his wounds at Colenso in 1899, and after his death was awarded the Victoria Cross for bravery in that battle. When the earldom was conferred on Lord Roberts, a special remainder was granted, in default of male issue, to his elder daughter and her heirs male, and in default of such issue to his younger daughter and her heirs male. His elder daughter, Lady Aileen Mary Roberts, is unmarried. Lady Edwina was born in 1875. Her fiancé Major Henry Frederick Elliott Lewin, who is in the Royal Field Artillery, is the son of

IMMORALITY CAUSE OF MUCH POVERTY

Some Interesting Evidence Given Before Old Age Pensions Committee

Ottawa.—Causes of poverty and dependency in Canada were dealt with in an interesting manner by Dr. W. R. Bruce Smith, Ontario Inspector of public charity, giving evidence before the Old Age Pensions commission. He declared immorality as one of the most prolific causes of poverty and divided the reasons for people becoming dependent on others by the following percentages:—

Intemperance, 21; inefficiency, often congenital, 22; improvidence, 16; shiftlessness, 15; immorality, 13; stupidity, 7; ignorance, 6. In Ontario, he pointed out there are 15,000 in houses of refuge, and 7,000 receiving municipal aid and otherwise helped.

Dr. Bruce Smith advocated the segregation of all feeble minded women during the maternity period in industrial refuges and the application of reformatory methods to first offenders. He believed that a man or woman convicted three times under the criminal code should have custodial care for the rest of their lives, not behind prison bars, but with outdoor work where they would be self-supporting and prevented from reproducing their kind.

He favored in Canada an old age pension system, similar to that which obtains in New Zealand, but with some amendments. The amount he suggested would be $150 a year, payable monthly and diminished in proportion to other income or the possession of net unencumbered values of property to over $500. By this means a large number would be kept out of houses of refuge.

Before the committee rose Mr. Stubbs, president of the United Miners of Alberta, gave evidence in favor of the inauguration in Canada of a system of old age pension. He thought it would result in great benefit to the working classes generally and to none would it appeal more than to the workers in the mines.

Mr. Stubbs gave the committee some interesting information as to the conditions under which work is done in the mines of the West.

THE MARKET REPORT

Weekly Grain Letter Supplied by Thompson, Sons & Co., Grain Merchants, Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Feb. 11.—No new feature has cropped up to disturb the wheat market; during the past week, if anything the volume of trading has been smaller and fluctuations narrower. A little strength at times appeared owing to fear of further complications in the European political situation. There has also been complaints of dry weather in India, but with scarcely any change in Liverpool cables. News of this kind had little effect and any advances made were soon lost.

Closing prices for the week show the Winnipeg market unchanged, the United States market slightly lower. At the moment it may be said the wheat market is dominated by nothing in particular. The trade has no positive opinion as to the future, and is waiting for something to turn up which may inject a ray of life into the situation. It seems to be certain that with a dull or indifferent domestic and export demand prices are not likely to rise naturally to a much higher level, and on the other hand, with Europe still a good buyer of wheat in the international market it does not seem probable that there is a possibility of establishing much lower prices. The market is neither weak nor strong; it isn't anything but out of such a condition there always comes a good move only there are no clear signs of the direction. With the exception of India where continued dry weather is causing anxiety, crop conditions are favorable the world over. The recent cold weather has not caused damage to the winter wheat in the United States as snow covers most of the principal producing States. Nebraska is an exception but no complaints have come from there. World's shipments again show a heavy increase over a year ago, being 14,800,000 bushels compared with 15,728,000 bushels last week and 8,208,000 bushels last year. The Argentine shipped 5,168,000 bushels; America 4,824,000 bushels; and Australia 2,024,000 bushels. The amount on ocean passage showed an increase of 4,984,000 bushels, making the total now 42,588,000 bushels, against 30,632,000 bushels. The decrease of 1,146,000 bushels in the world's visible according to Bradstreet's this week is small when compared with the decrease of last year, 7,789,000 bushels. The total world's visible is now 202,609,000 bushels compared to 190,933,000 bushels last year.

The Winnipeg market has been steady and closing cash prices show a slight advance. There is a healthy demand for both contract and commercial grades. Rejected and smutty wheat have had a much better enquiry and values are nearly 2c. higher. Receipts are beginning to run considerably less than last year but the congestion at the Port William and Port Arthur terminals shows no improvement.

Today's cash prices are: 1 Northern, 81c; 2 Nor., 81½c; 3 Nor., 78½c; No. 4, 73½c; No. 5, 68½c; No. 6, 62½c; feed, 53c; No. 1 A.R.W., 85c; No. 2 C.R.W., 82½c; No. 3 A.R.W., 79½c. Futures closed May, 83½c; July, 89½c.

The demand for oats is steady and while prices on the higher grades are unchanged the feed grades show ¼ to ½c. advance. Today's prices are: No. 2 C.W., 32½c; 3 C.W., 30c; extra 1 feed, 31½c; 1 feed, 30½c; 2 feed, 27½c. Futures closed May, 36½c; July, 37½c.

Barley.—With the exception of No. 4 which has advanced a full cent, barley prices are unchanged and trade has been quiet. Today's prices are No. 2, 47½c; No. 4, 46½c; Rejected, 40½c; feed, 29½c.

Flax.—The flax market has been much quieter this week and although prices are fractionally higher it is thought the advance is over for the present. Today's cash prices are 1 N.W.C., 115½c; 2 C.W., 112½c. Futures closed May 120½c; July 121½c.

All prices quoted above are for in store Port William, Port Arthur and Duluth.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON VIII.—FIRST QUARTER, FOR FEB. 23, 1913

Text of the Lesson, Gen. xiii, 1-12. Memory Verse, 8.—Golden Text, Prov. x, 22.—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Abram's going down to Egypt was certainly a mistake on his part, for there was no altar to the Lord there nor any new revelation from the Lord, and Abram dishonored the Lord by fear and deceit and brought upon himself the rebuke of a man of the world, a heathen king. By all our conduct we are either honoring or dishonoring the Lord, magnifying Him or magnifying ourselves, and we would do well to test everything by this test. He is able to take care of His own people and His own work under all circumstances, and all He asks of us is a whole heart for Him, such an abiding in and separation unto Him that He shall not be hindered in working out His good pleasure.

When at any time we wander away from the Lord the only thing to do is to return as quickly as possible, for He is ever calling the wanderer to return, as in Isa. iv, 7; Jer. li, 14, 22; Hos. xiv, 1, 2, and the word of encouragement awaits both the unsaved and the saved, "Now that cometh to Me I will in wisdom cast out" (John vi, 37).

It is good to see Abram back at the place of the altar between Bethel and Hai and to hear him calling on the name of the Lord (verses 3, 4) and to know that the Lord has abundantly pardoned him according to His word.

It may seem strange to some to see Abram very rich in cattle, in silver and in gold (verse 2) notwithstanding his wanderings from the Lord, but let such consider their own mercies and say if they have not been dealt with in loving kindness beyond all their deserts. Sometimes the Lord would draw us back to or closer to Himself by His great mercies, and we have all and always reason to say: It is of the Lord's mercies that we are not consumed, because His compassions fail not" (Lam. iii, 22).

Lot also was rich in flocks and herds, and his herds and those of Abram could not agree. So to prevent strife Abram told Lot to take his choice of territory and that he would take that which Lot did not desire. Thus magnanimous could this great man afford to be because he was the friend of God and the Lord was his portion. Being a witness for God before the Canaanites and Perizzites who dwell in the land, he could not tolerate strife, for the servant of the Lord must not strive. (II Tim. ii, 24).

Meekness, lowliness and submission are always becoming in a child of God; but never strife, not even to maintain our so called rights. We are exhorted to take wrong and suffer ourselves to be defrauded rather than strive before unbelievers (I Cor. vi, 6, 7).

Without regard to the character of the people who lived on the plain, who are described as wicked and sinners before the Lord, exceedingly. Lot chose the plain of Jordan, because he saw that it would admirably suit his numerous flocks and herds (verses 10-13). It is said that he lifted up his eyes, but it was only to behold the low and fruitful valley of the Jordan. He did not behold the Lord nor consider His will in the matter. It was a case of self only.

It was good for Lot to be with Abram, but not so good for Abram to have Lot with him. Separation from Lot was really to Abram's advantage and evidently pleasing to the Lord, for the Lord had another message for Abram as soon as Lot was separated from him (14-17). There was a renewed assurance that the Lord would give him the whole land and the promise that his seed would be as the dust of the earth (verse 16).

In verse 18 we see this friend of God dwelling with Him at Hebron, which signifies fellowship, away above the sinners of Sodom and in communion with God with his altar unto the Lord. This prepares us for the record in chapter xiv of the capture and captivity of Lot and his goods by the four kings, while Abram, living above and away from all the turmoil, is able to go with his 318 trained servants and rescue Lot and his people and all his goods. While mixed up with the world we cannot expect to have victory over it, and it is only as we dwell at Hebron in fellowship with God that we can hope to rescue others from the god of this world. First we see Lot pitching his tent toward Sodom, and then we see him dwelling in Sodom. (xlii, 12; xlv, 12). Later we shall find him a ruler in Sodom, sitting in the gate—getting on in the world.

In the end of chapter xiv we have a wonderful record of a most remarkable man, a king and a priest; type of the Lord Jesus Christ when He shall be a priest upon His throne, a priest forever after the order of Melchizedek (Zech. vi, 13; Ps. cx, 4). Here we have for the first time the title: the Most High God, possessor of heaven and earth, and because Abram was blessed by Him he was able to turn his back upon the tempting offer of the King of Sodom concerning the goods. If the church today knew the Most High God and His blessing she would never be guilty of seeking the goods of Sodom to help her carry on her work. There is nothing so grand as to know God and find our all in Him.

15. Apaches Wreck a Ship
Paris.—Fifteen apaches broke into a wine shop in Montmartre at 1 o'clock in the morning, wrecked the bar, took the money from the till and tried to murder the proprietor. Three of them were arrested by the police during the night, but not before a policeman had been wounded and one of the apaches had been shot through the shoulder.

Grace Darlings' Boat
London.—It was reported at a meeting of the council of Armstrong College, Newcastle, that Lady John Jocelyne-Cecil had presented to the college the boat in which Grace Darling and her father went to the assistance of the crew of the wrecked Forfarshire on Farne Island in September, 1838.

To Distract Attention of the Dominion
London.—The Yorkshire Post, Unionist, puts forward the suggestion that the recent manifestation of Germany to conform to the sixteen to ten standard in battleships between ourselves and Germany may be perhaps because Germany wants to distract Canada's attention from the necessity of contributing to the Imperial fleet.

This of course, the Post continues, is mere speculation. A point more immediately noteworthy is that Germany's readiness to moderate the rate of her warship construction has not apparently been officially made known to our foreign office. It is doubtful if in any case it would affect the British naval program of this year, which contemplates an extra two millions sterling expenditure.

Mines Branch
Ottawa.—When Hon. Louis Codrington became secretary of state it was announced that the mines branch now under the interior department would be added to the state department, thus increasing its work and importance. An order-in-council is now going through making the transfer formally. The department comprises the mines branch and the geological survey.

London.—A meeting of Essex farmers at Pitsea, formed the Co-operative Utility Rabbit Club for the purpose of breeding rabbits for food.
